GEORGIAN STYLE REVIVAL

A traditional Georgian design which has been simplified for a clean, contemporary look makes the Otterburn chair one of Hepple Furniture's most popular pieces.

The Otterburn combines conventional Georgian features with modern touches, such as its clean lines and elegant tapered legs, which can be made in either ash or beech and are available French polished to any shade.

The chair's small footprint makes it ideal for hallways or areas where space is limited.

Produced at Hepple's North East workshop, where craftsmen spend up to five days working on each piece of furniture, the Otterburn is made entirely from natural materials. A kiln-dried beech frame supports a base of webbed jute and padding of horsehair and fibre.

The chair can be upholstered in any fabric, and is pictured upholstered in blue Hepple ticking. The design is also available with turned legs, finished off with castors or castor cups.

The Otterburn costs £1,252 plus 8 metres of fabric.
